To our 2020 IUTA World Championship Racers:

As promised, all of us at USA Ultra Tri are working hard behind the scenes; Speaking with IUTA, keeping up with recommendations from the CDC and our local government officials and preparing our team as we look forward to October and the WC race at Lake Anna State Park.

When the IUTA announced in early June that there would be no world cup ranking for 2020, we discussed whether or not to hold our event in 2020. With all that our sport has been through this year, we decided to forge ahead with the World Championship race. You deserve to be celebrated, and we want to pay out our $15,000 prize package!

We have heard from athletes in England, Switzerland, Poland, North America and Spain who are training and ready to travel ~ we know you are just as excited for the race as we are, so here are some reminders:

Our first price increase is coming up next week on 26 June. Please refer to the on-line application for the pricing / cut-off dates.

Although our final cut-off for race entry is 25 August, our deadline for getting the tri-kit order into our supplier is at the beginning of August, so we must have your application and sizing information in by 1 August to guarantee a tri-kit will be ordered for you. Please see our detailed email with additional information and how to determine your proper fit, coming tomorrow.

We look forward to hearing from you with any questions you may have and seeing you in a few months.

As always, stay healthy and train well. If we do receive any information that the race might not be possible, or if we just do not think that it will be what you might expect, we will reach out.

Standing Together,

Teri Kirby and Crew
